

IN RESPONSE TO THE DRAWING SET TITLED "MIAMI →
JACKSONVILLE, PARCE", 13 SHEETS, DATED 4
SEPTEMBER 2026

~~MIAMI → JACKSONVILLE~~ MIAMI → TAMPA BAY

Diego. Naty. That is a genuinely good deck. I read all thirteen slides twice. It is right about almost everything, and it still points you at the wrong city.

Here is the same argument with the third option left in.

PROJECT	SHEETS	PREPARED BY	ISSUED
Getting you out of Miami	15, in reply to 13	The friends who already lived in Jacksonville	5 September 2026

AGREED. LEAVE MIAMI.

This is not a defense of Miami. I am not going to tell you the housing math is fine, because it is not fine.

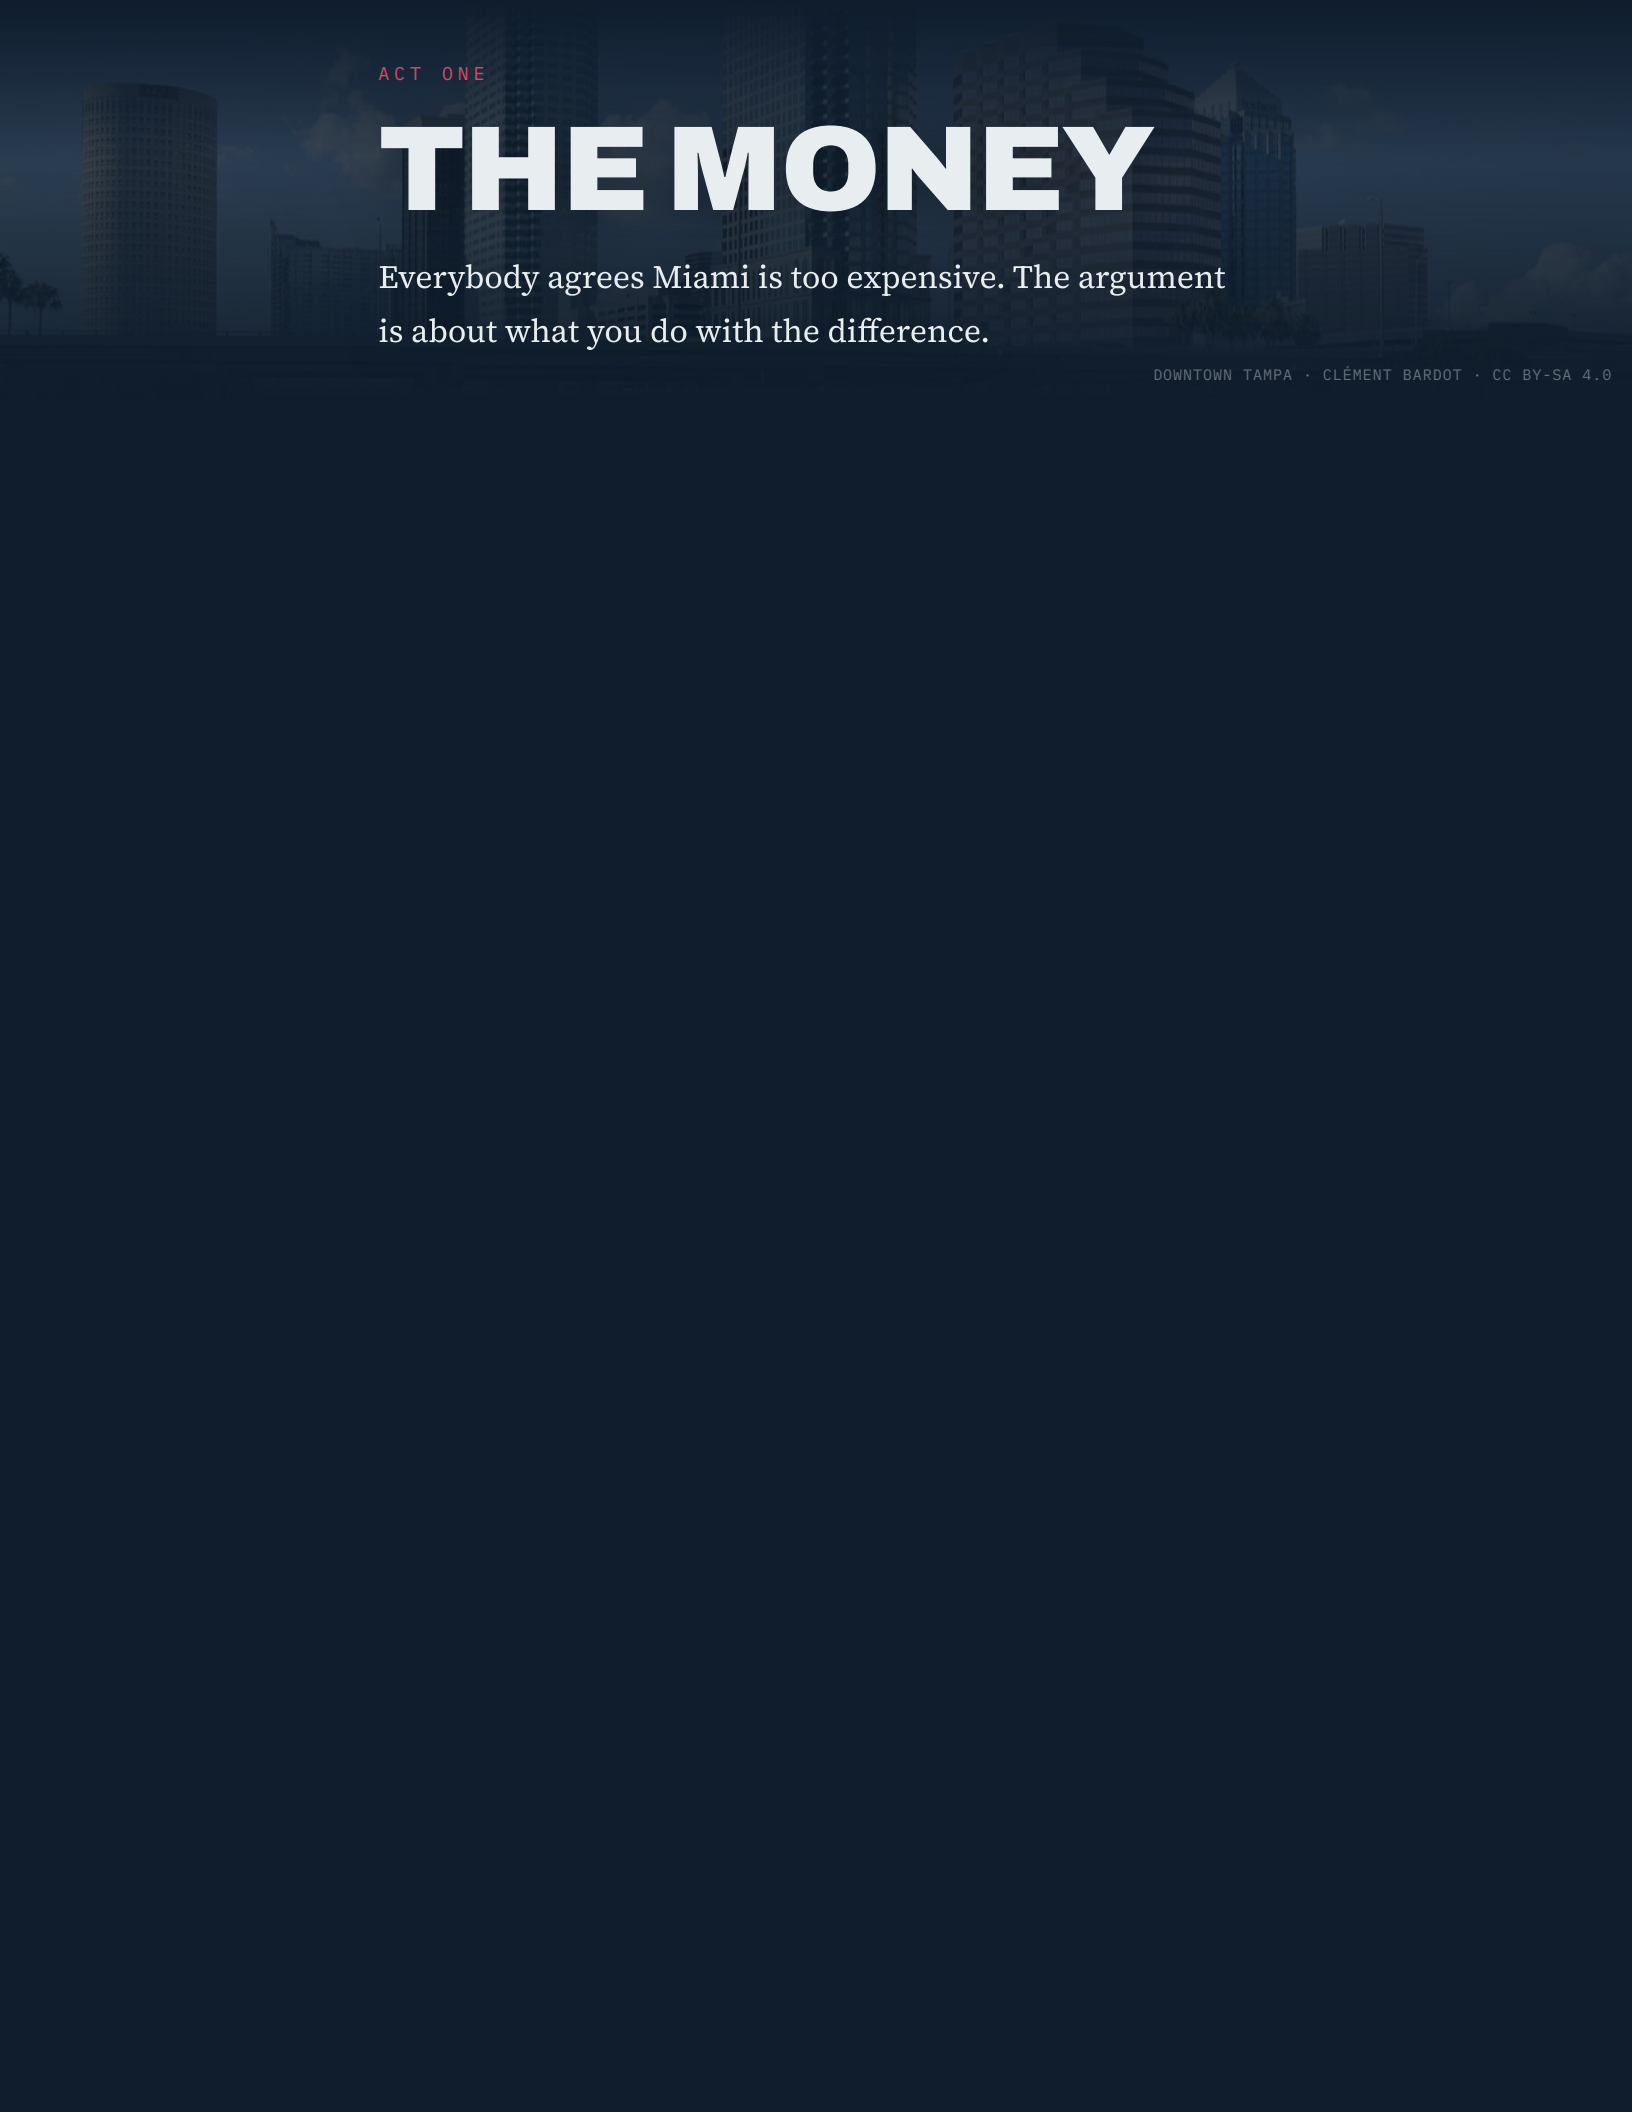

JACKSONVILLE DECK • SLIDE 02

“Trade some Miami intensity for space, optionality and family bandwidth.”

Correct. Every word. A thirty-seven-year-old architect with a wife and a five-year-old should not be handing that much of his income to a landlord or a lender so that he can be near a nightclub he has not been inside since 2019.

So we agree on the problem, and we agree on roughly ninety percent of that deck. What follows is the other ten percent, and the other ten percent is the whole move.

It compares two cities. Florida has more than two cities.

ACT ONE

THE MONEY

Everybody agrees Miami is too expensive. The argument is about what you do with the difference.

DOWNTOWN TAMPA · CLÉMENT BARDOT · CC BY-SA 4.0

SAME SOURCE. SAME DAY. ONE MORE CITY.

Slide 4 cites Livingcost.org, updated 21 June 2026, for the cost of raising a family. I opened the identical page. I changed one city in the URL.

Estimated monthly cost, family of four

LIVINGCOST.ORG · UPDATED 21 JUNE 2026 · THE DECK'S OWN
SOURCE, ITS OWN DATE

MIAMI TAMPA JACKSONVILLE

Miami → Jacksonville saves $2,220 a month. Miami → Tampa saves $1,567 a month.

SCALE RUNS 0 TO $7,364. ALL THREE FIGURES FROM THE SAME COMPARISON TOOL ON THE SAME UPDATE DATE. [3]

70.6%

OF THE SAVINGS THE
JACKSONVILLE DECK PROMISED,
KEPT — WITHOUT MOVING SIX
HOURS FARTHER FROM MIAMI

That is the entire rebuttal in one number. The deck sells an escape from Miami prices. Tampa delivers seven-tenths of that escape. The remaining three-tenths is what the rest of these sheets is about, and I am going to price it honestly.

Jacksonville is cheaper than Tampa by $653 a month. I am not going to pretend otherwise. I am going to tell you what that $653 is buying.

$653

MORE PER MONTH

IN TAMPA

+$518

HIGHER MEDIAN

AFTER-TAX PAY IN TAMPA

$135

ACTUAL MONTHLY GAP

AFTER THE RAISE

Median after-tax salary is $3,945 in Jacksonville and $4,463 in Tampa. ^[3]

Same source. Roughly eighty percent of the cost difference is absorbed by the fact that Tampa pays people more.

IT PICKED THE EASIEST COMPARISON IN FLORIDA.

Slide 3 puts Jacksonville next to Miami and lets a $339,830 gap do the persuading. It is a real gap, honestly sourced. It is also the one matchup no Florida city can lose.

Here is what happens when you put Jacksonville next to the places I am actually proposing. Same source for all five, so nobody gets to pick a favorable methodology.

Typical home value

ZILLOW HOME VALUE INDEX · 2026 · ONE SOURCE, FIVE PLACES

■ WHAT YOU'RE LEAVING ■ TAMPA BAY ■ JACKSONVILLE

Plant City minus Jacksonville: $47,855. Miami minus Plant City: $238,099.

SCALE RUNS 0 TO $581,864. ZILLOW HOME VALUE INDEX, A SMOOTHED TYPICAL-VALUE MEASURE, CHOSEN BECAUSE IT IS PUBLISHED FOR SMALL CITIES LIKE PLANT CITY WHERE MEDIAN-SALE FIGURES GET THIN. ^[4]

Jacksonville wins this chart. It wins it by $47,855, which at current rates is a couple hundred dollars a month on a note.

Against Miami that gap looks like the difference between two lives. Against Plant City it is the difference between two kitchens.

WHAT YOU ARE ACTUALLY SHOPPING FOR

You have said you want a bigger house with a garage, and that is the whole point of leaving Miami. In Riverview, Plant City, Wesley Chapel and the Brandon corridor, a two-car garage is not an upgrade, it is what the house comes with. That is true in Jacksonville too. The difference is not what the house has. It is what is around it.

SO WHAT DOES $653 A MONTH GET YOU?

Every sheet from here is priced against that number. If Jacksonville's discount is worth more than what follows, take it. It is a real city and that was a real argument.

But you should see the other side of the ledger before you sign anything, and the Jacksonville deck never had reason to put it there. This is that list.

Ninety minutes closer to your family, each way

2.2× the market for two people starting over

A nonstop to Bogotá

A house with a garage

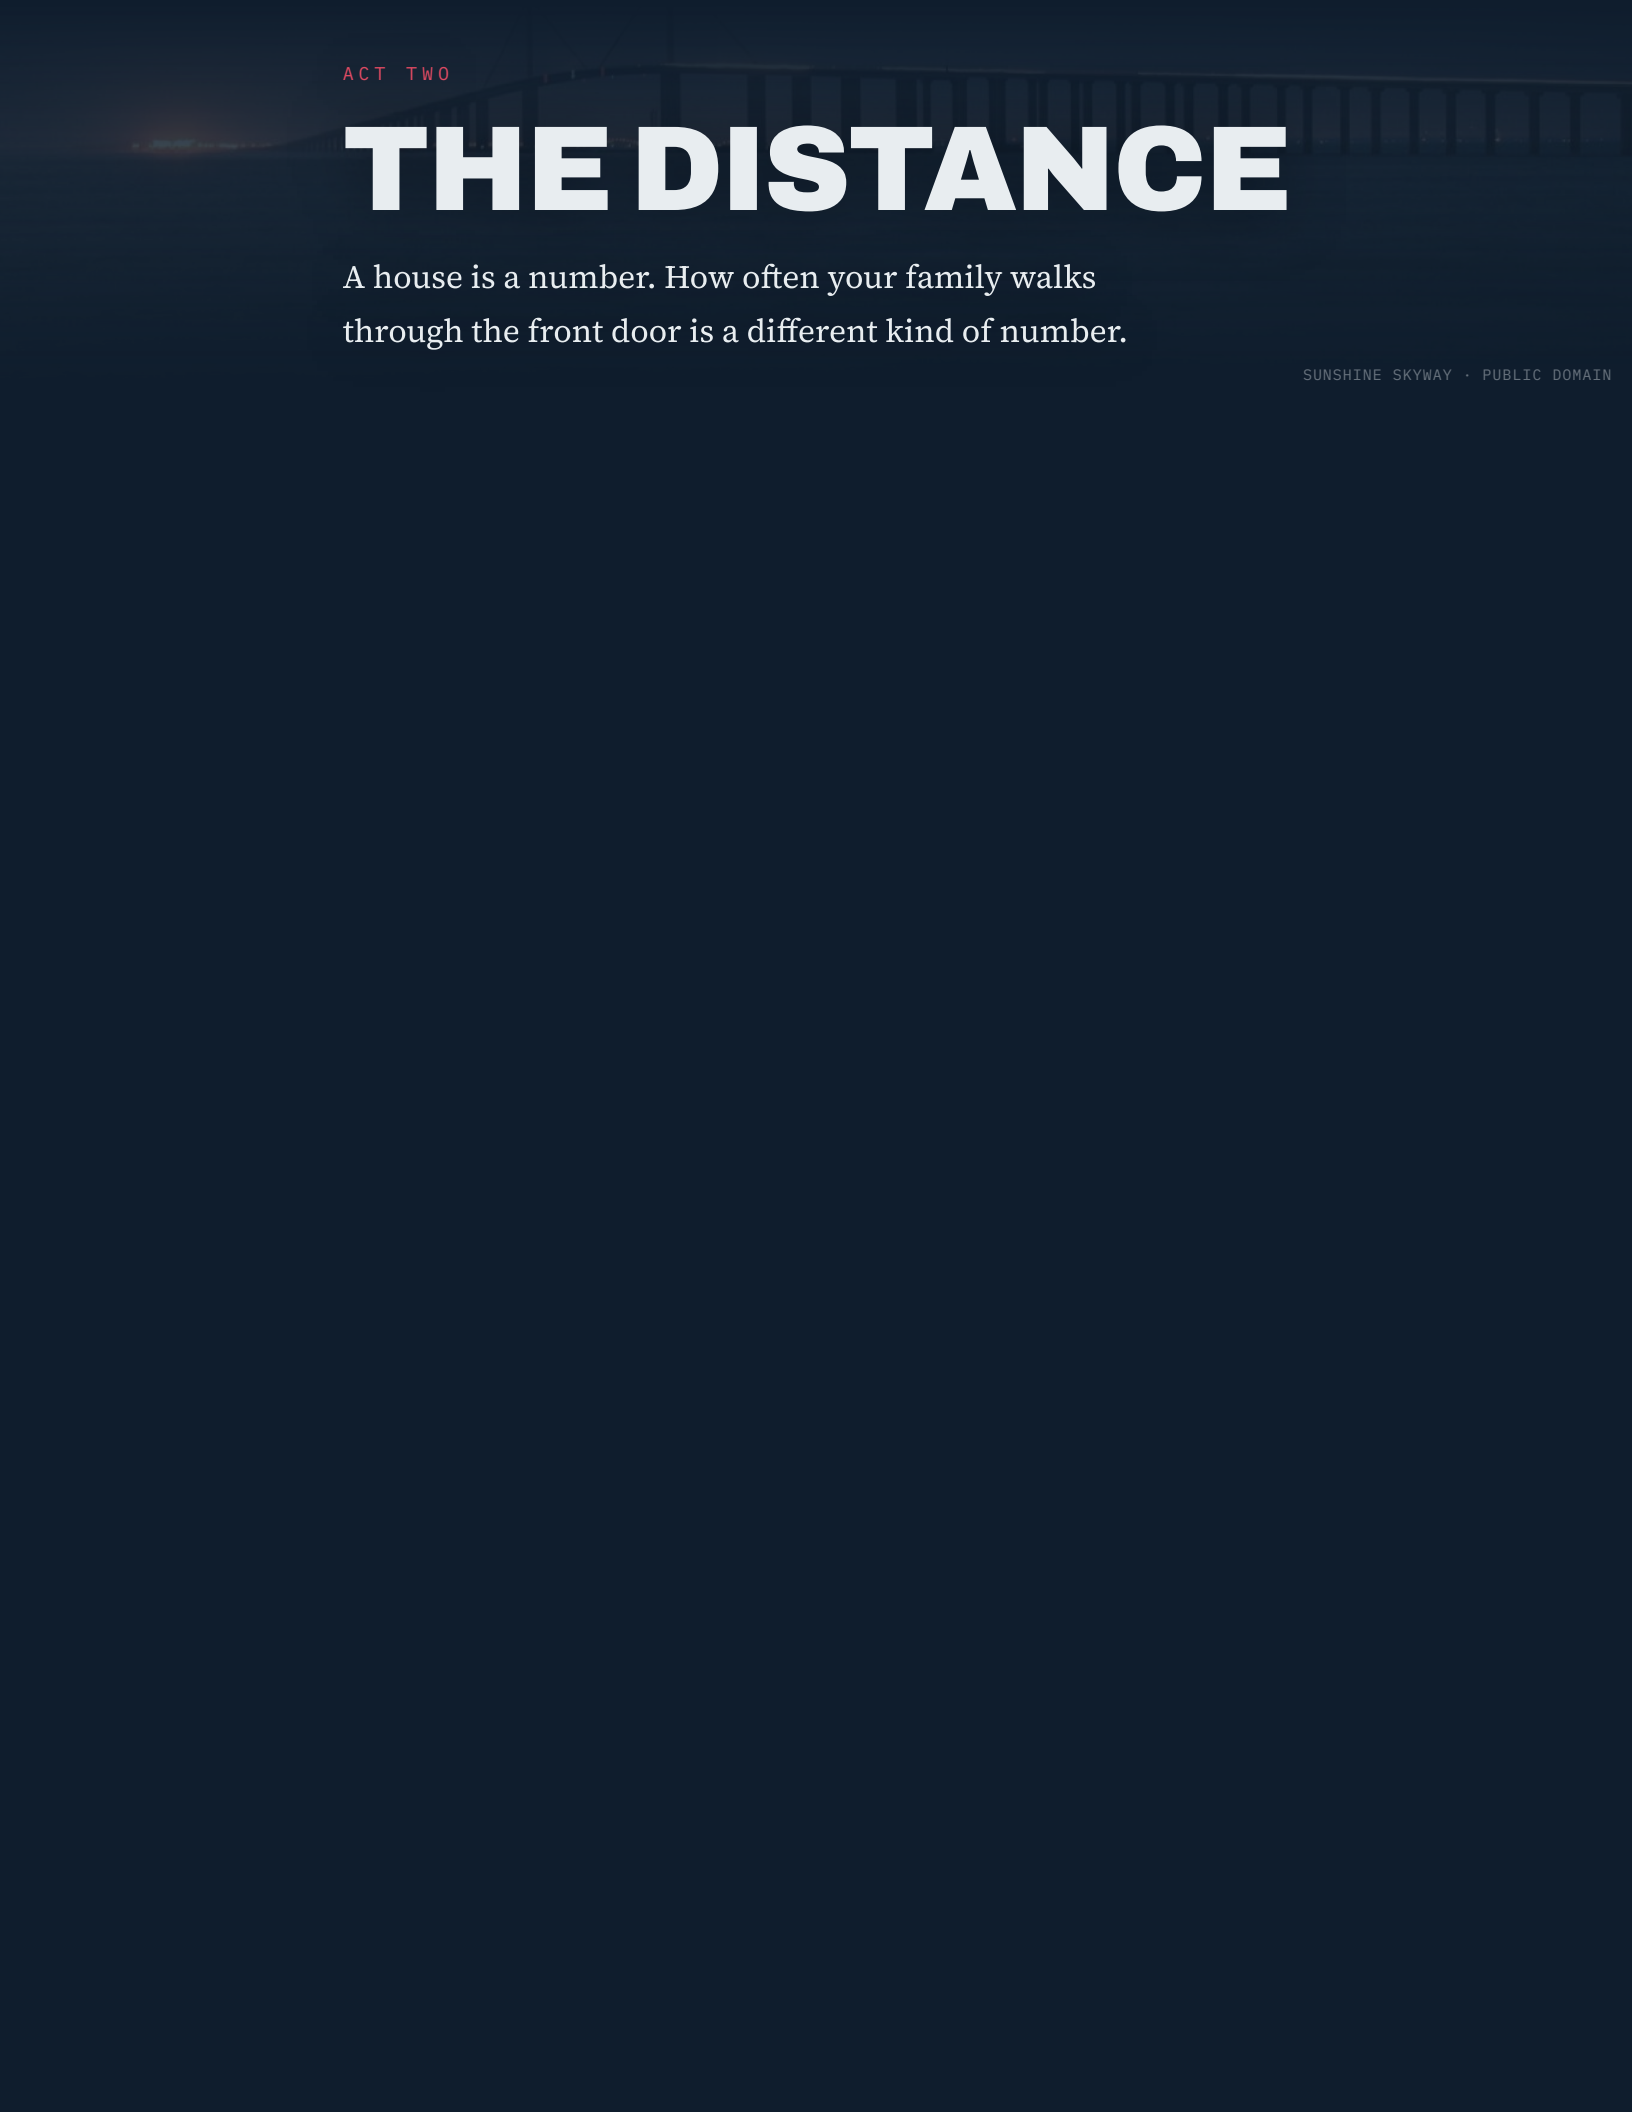

An ocean you can get in during February

573,299 people, in our town, every March

Named cranes instead of a budget line

A third of the homicides

Us, twenty minutes away

ACT TWO

THE DISTANCE

A house is a number. How often your family walks through the front door is a different kind of number.

SUNSHINE SKYWAY · PUBLIC DOMAIN

EVERYONE YOU LOVE IS IN MIAMI

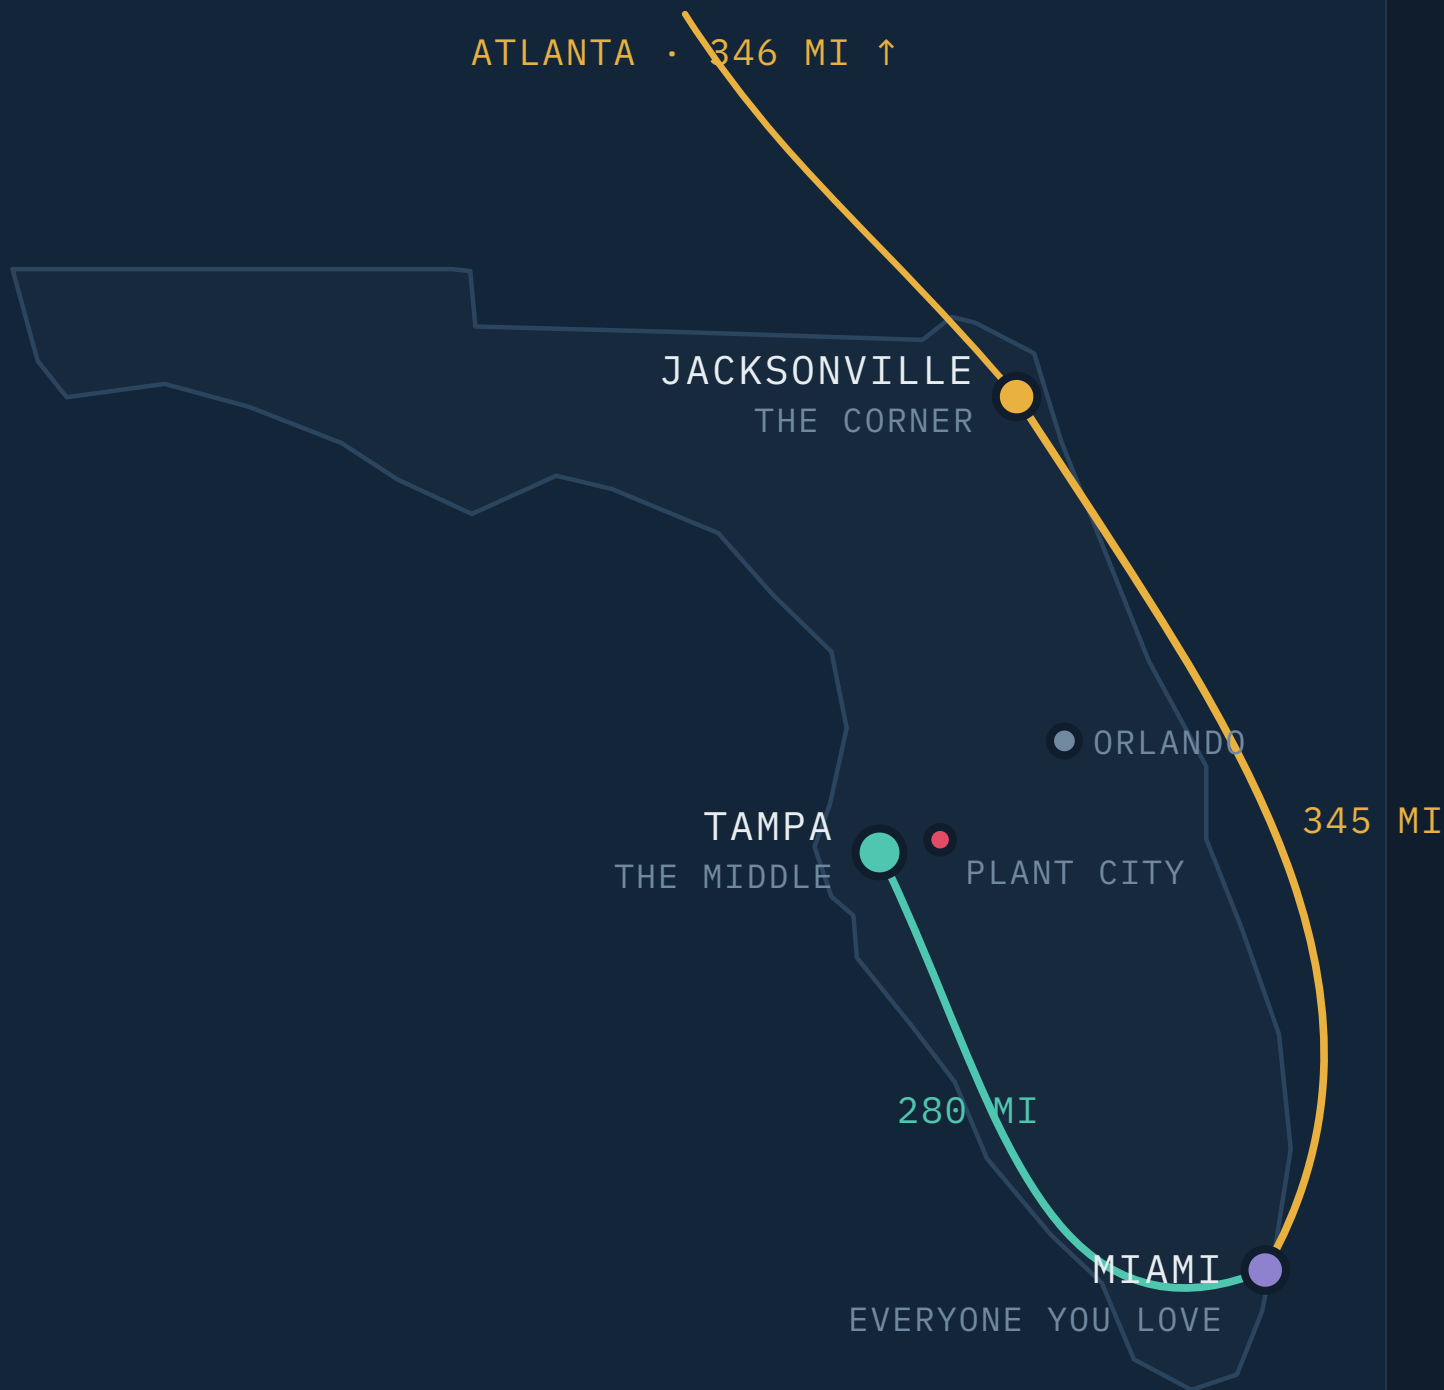

FROM JACKSONVILLE, ATLANTA IS CLOSER THAN YOUR FAMILY.

Not almost. Closer by a mile. Slide 10 sells Jacksonville as a launchpad and lists St. Augustine, Amelia Island, Orlando and Savannah. Notice which city is not on that list.

This is the sheet that matters most, because your whole family is in one city and neither of these moves puts you in it. The only question is how far away you agree to be.

Where each city actually sits

ROAD MILES • TAMPA IS THE MIDDLE OF THE STATE, JACKSONVILLE IS A CORNER OF IT

DISTANCES ARE ROAD MILES, NOT STRAIGHT-LINE. THE ATLANTA LINE RUNS OFF THE TOP OF THE STATE ON PURPOSE. ^[7]

Driving distance to the people you are leaving behind

ROAD MILES, MIAMI UNLESS NOTED

Jax → Atlanta		346 mi
Jax → Miami		345 mi
Tampa → Miami		280 mi ≈3h 55m

SCALE RUNS 0 TO 346 MILES. DRIVING DISTANCE, NOT STRAIGHT-LINE. ^[7]

Move to Jacksonville and Georgia sits as close to you as everyone you are leaving in Miami. That is not a joke at anyone's expense. It is a coincidence of geography that happens to be perfect.

Tampa is a Saturday-morning drive. Leave after breakfast, be there for lunch, and your kid falls asleep in the car on the way home that night. Jacksonville is five to six hours each way, which quietly turns every visit into a three-day commitment, and turns most of them into no visit at all.

^[7]

Sixty-five miles does not sound like a relationship. Ninety minutes each way, forty weekends a year, for the next twenty years, is a relationship.

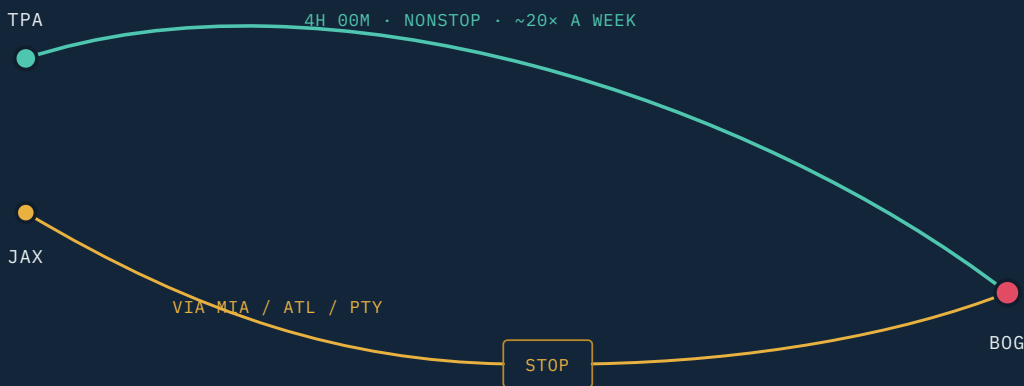

And the rest of the state opens up on top of it. Orlando in about ninety minutes, Sarasota in under an hour, Fort Myers in two. ^[7]

TAMPA FLIES TO BOGOTÁ. JACKSONVILLE DOESN'T.

Your family is in Miami, so this one is a bonus rather than the argument. It is still the single cleanest fact in this document. Avianca has flown Tampa to Bogotá nonstop since March 2025. It went daily that October. It now runs about twenty flights a week.

Getting to Bogotá

THE SAME TRIP, FROM TWO FLORIDA AIRPORTS

AVIANCA HAS FLOWN TAMPA TO BOGOTÁ NONSTOP SINCE MARCH 2025. JACKSONVILLE HAS NO SCHEDULED NONSTOP TO SOUTH AMERICA. ^[5]

FROM TAMPA

TPA ————— BOG

4h 00m

Nonstop, Avianca, A320neo. Roughly 20 departures a week. TPA's first scheduled nonstop to South America in nearly fifty years. ^[5]

FROM JACKSONVILLE

JAX ————— MIA / ATL / PTY ————— BOG

No such flight

JAX has two international nonstops: San Juan, which is a US territory, and Toronto, which is seasonal. Zero to South America. ^[6]

And it is not a gap anyone is racing to close. Jacksonville's airport authority commissioned a study on which nonstop international routes to chase next. The shortlist came back Dublin, Frankfurt, London, Paris, Reykjavík. ^[6]

Not one South American city. Jacksonville is not planning to fly to your family. It is planning to fly to Iceland.

Nobody moves cities over a flight route. But your kid is five, and at some point you are going to want him to know where he is from, and the difference between a four-hour nonstop and a connection through Atlanta is the difference between going every couple of years and going once.

“ENOUGH COLOMBIAN FOOD TO SURVIVE.”

Survive. That is slide 12’s own word, in the list of what you are really buying. An honest word, and I want the record to show that the ceiling being offered here is survival.

JACKSONVILLE DECK · SLIDE 08

“Miami has the deeper Colombian ecosystem. Jax gives you enough connection while buying back space, cost and pace.”

It names three. Delicias Colombianas, Antojitos, Salento. That is an honest list, and it is also close to the complete list, which is the problem.

Tampa Bay and greater Orlando together hold roughly 85,000 Colombians, described in the migration literature as the second-largest concentration in the United States after Miami. Florida holds about thirty percent of the entire Colombian diaspora, and the three named centers are Miami–Fort Lauderdale, Orlando–Kissimmee, and Tampa Bay.^[8]

Jacksonville appears on none of those lists.

WITHIN THIRTY MINUTES OF OUR HOUSE

Los 3 Parces · Brandon	Ricopan Bakehouse · Brandon	Ricopan Bakehouse · Riverview
Ricopan Bakehouse · Tampa	Aleida’s Kitchen · Brandon	La Pequeña Colombia · Brandon
Rappi Colombian Food · Brandon	Cali Aji · Riverview	Mi Carreta · Tampa
El Fogón Colombiano · Tampa	Monserate · Tampa	Restaurante La Hacienda · Tampa
Antojitos Latin Cravings · Tampa	Santa Ana’s Bakery · Town ‘n Country

Fifteen, and I stopped writing, not because I ran out.

Los 3 Parces

IS A REAL COLOMBIAN RESTAURANT
IN BRANDON, FLORIDA, ABOUT
TWENTY MINUTES FROM OUR FRONT DOOR

Diego. The word parce is on the cover of that deck. There is a restaurant named after it twenty minutes from here. The pitch is quoting our neighborhood to sell you a different one.

THAT OCEAN IS 58 DEGREES IN FEBRUARY.

Slide 9 is titled “The ocean didn’t stay in Miami,” which is true, and then offers “surf-and-bike coastal living,” which is the phrase you reach for when the water is cold.

Average water temperature, February

DEGREES FAHRENHEIT · THE MONTH THAT DECIDES WHETHER A BEACH IS A BEACH

Clearwater, Gulf

63.0°F

Jax Beach, Atlantic

58.8°F

SCALE RUNS 0 TO 63°F. AT THE SAME LATITUDE THE GULF RUNS ROUGHLY 3 TO 5 DEGREES WARMER THAN THE ATLANTIC THROUGH THE WINTER. [9]

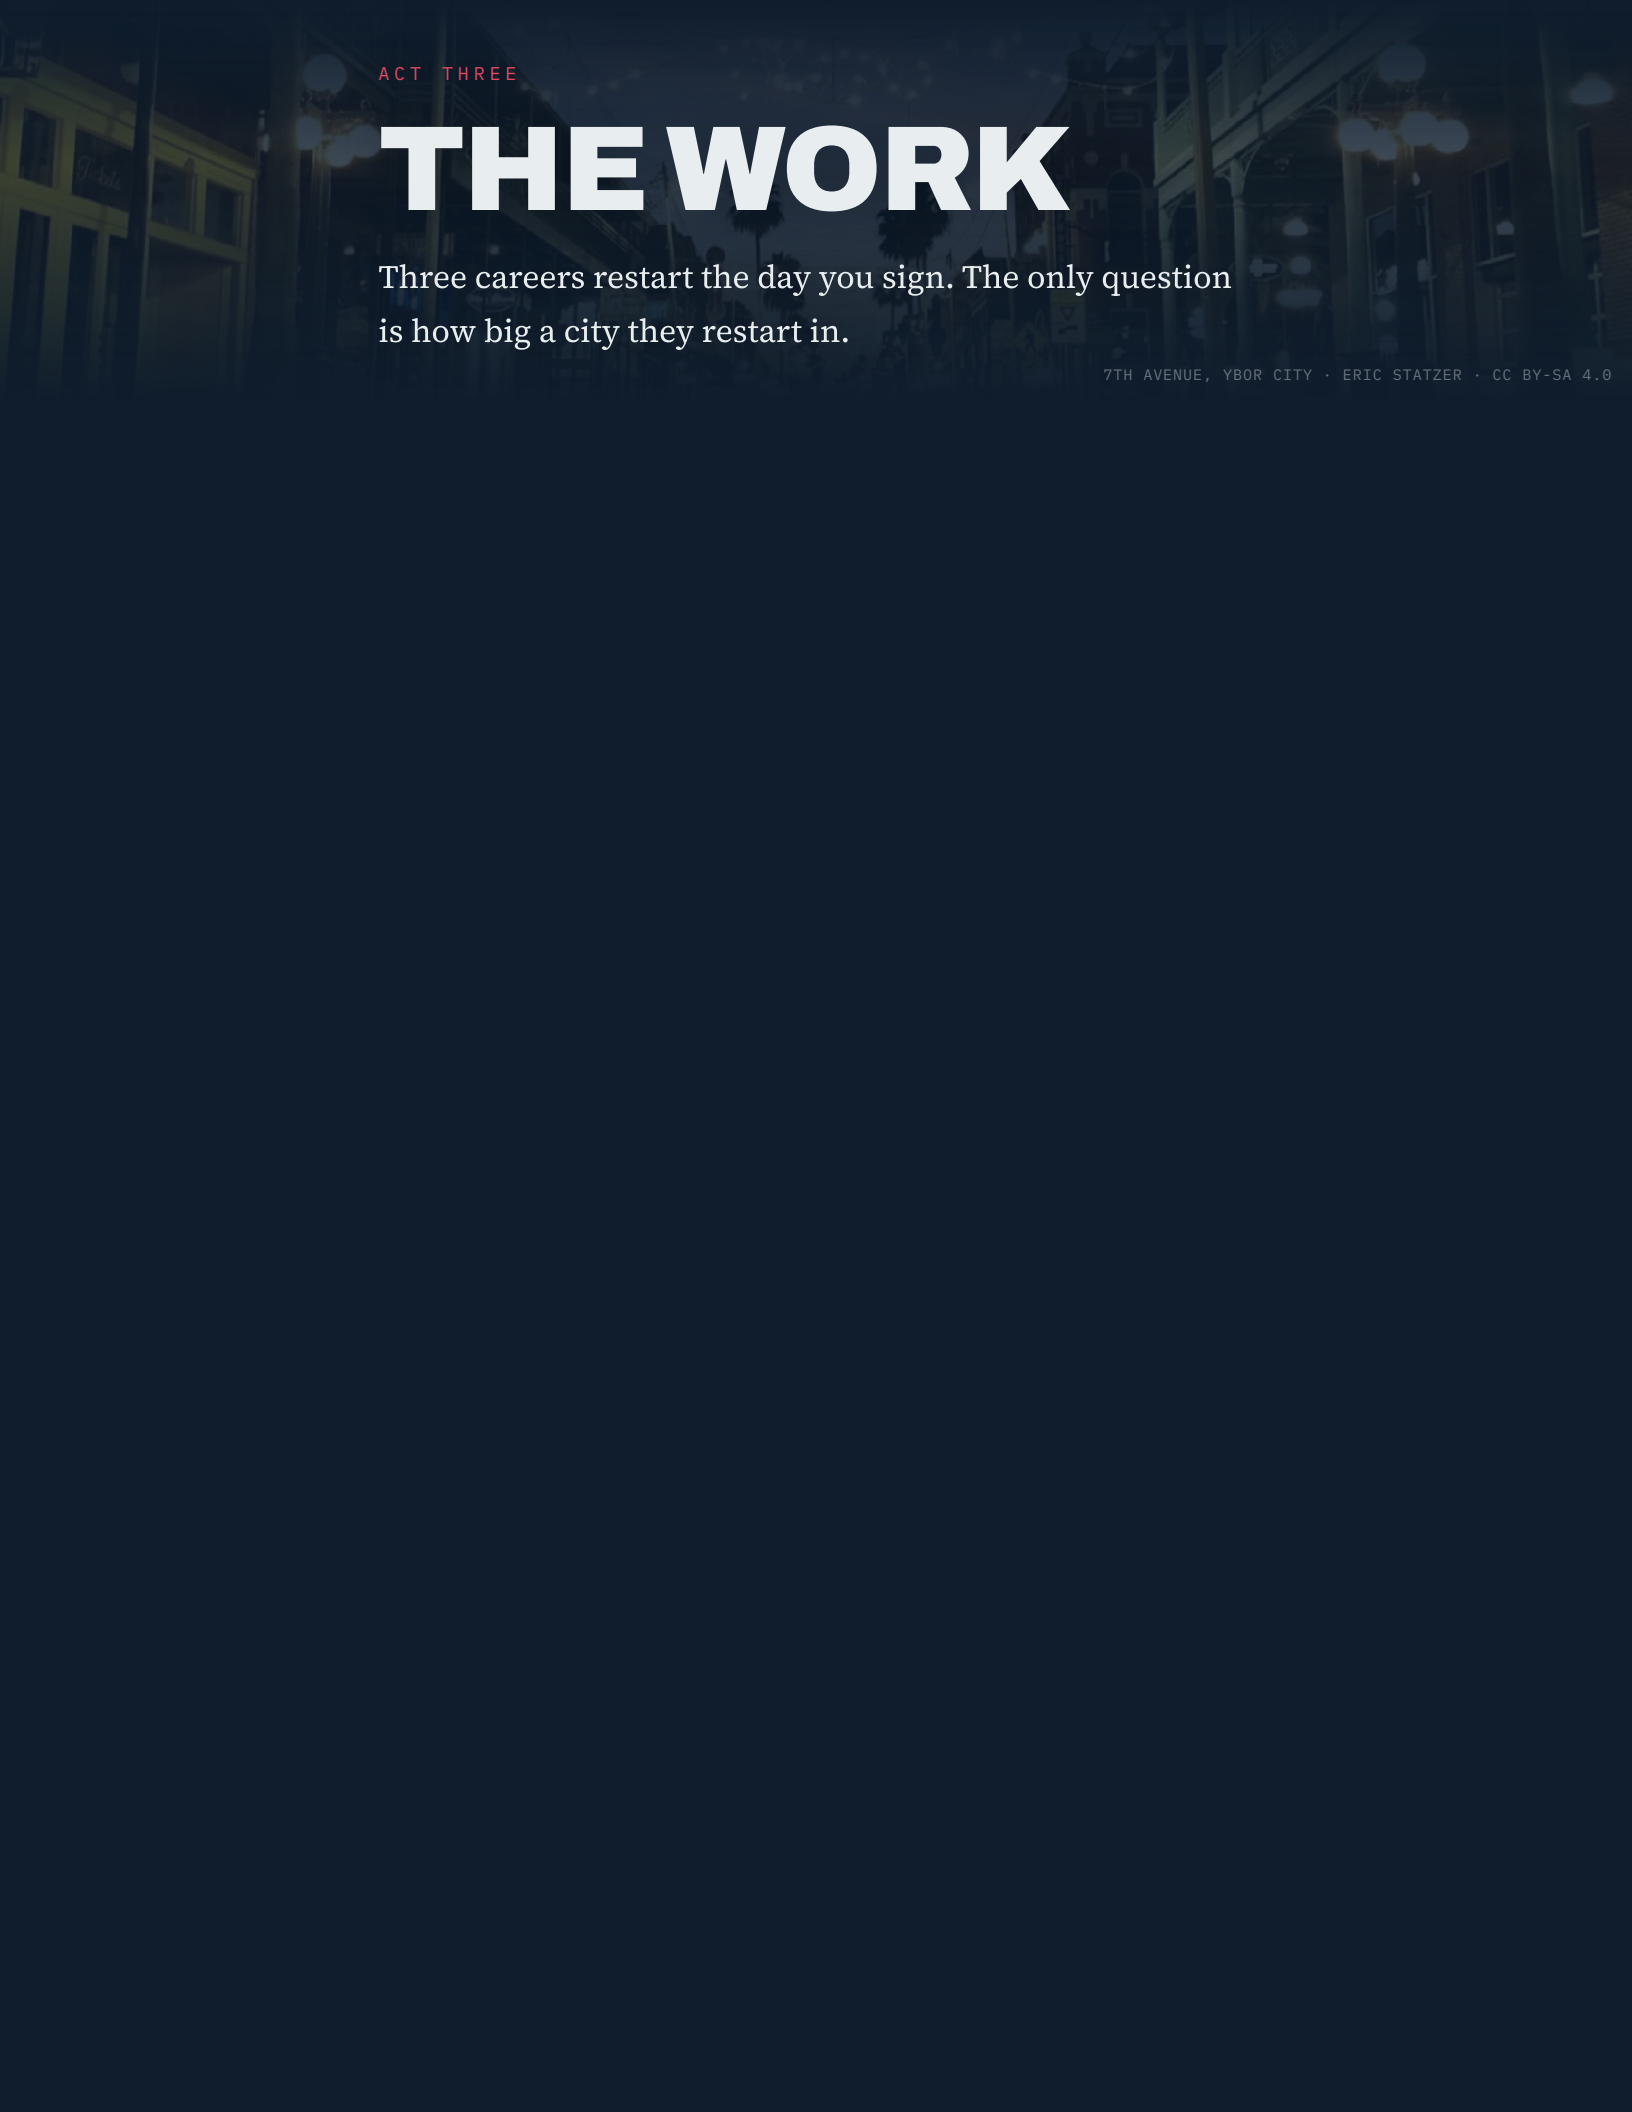

Four degrees does not sound like an argument until you are the parent standing in it. But temperature is the smaller half of this.

The Gulf here is shallow, flat and slow. A five-year-old can walk out a long way and the water stays at his chest. North Florida’s Atlantic has surf, and shore break, and rip currents, which is genuinely wonderful if you are twenty-two with a board and genuinely tiring if you are the one watching a kindergartener in it.

That is a beach for the man you were. This is a beach for the man with a five-year-old.

ACT THREE

THE WORK

Three careers restart the day you sign. The only question is how big a city they restart in.

7TH AVENUE, YBOR CITY · ERIC STATZER · CC BY-SA 4.0

YOU ARE NOT MOVING ONE CAREER. YOU ARE MOVING THREE.

Diego needs a firm. Naty rebuilds a client list from nothing. And the embroidery and printing business needs a market. That is the true price of this move, and I want to say plainly that it is the same price in either city.

So the only honest question left is which city gives you more to rebuild into. That question has a number attached to it.

3,040,000

TAMPA BAY
METRO POPULATION

1,360,000

JACKSONVILLE
METRO POPULATION

2.2x

MORE PEOPLE TO REBUILD INTO

Tampa Bay is not slightly bigger. It holds 1.68 million more people than metro Jacksonville, which is roughly another whole Jacksonville and then some. ^[13]

FOR NATY

Her clients are ten to twelve minutes from the front door and her schedule is as good as a schedule gets. Any move breaks that. The Jacksonville version of this move breaks it exactly as badly, so nobody gets to count it as a point against Tampa.

What differs is the thing she rebuilds into. Same work, same word of mouth, same slow first year, into a market more than twice the size and dense enough that a ten-minute radius still contains a real book of business. If she is going to pay the cost of starting over once, she should only have to do it once.

FOR THE BUSINESS

Embroidery and 3D printing are demand businesses. They need crowds, teams, events, schools and small manufacturers within driving range, and this comparison is not close either.

THE STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL 573,299 guests · 2026 Eleven days, in Plant City, ten minutes from our house. The best-attended festival in Florida, and it happens in the town I am telling you to move to. ^[14]	GASPARILLA ~300,000 · every January A pirate invasion the size of a mid-sized city, and every krewe, boat and bar in it wants something with a logo on it. ^[14]
THREE PRO TEAMS, NOT ONE Bucs · Lightning · Rays Plus the Rowdies. Jacksonville has the Jaguars. Youth leagues, booster clubs and bar merch follow the teams, and there are three times as many of them here.	CONVENTIONS AND CORPORATE Downtown · year-round The Tampa Convention Center, Amalie Arena and the Water Street district next door run events continuously. Badges, uniforms, giveaways and prototypes all have to come from somewhere.

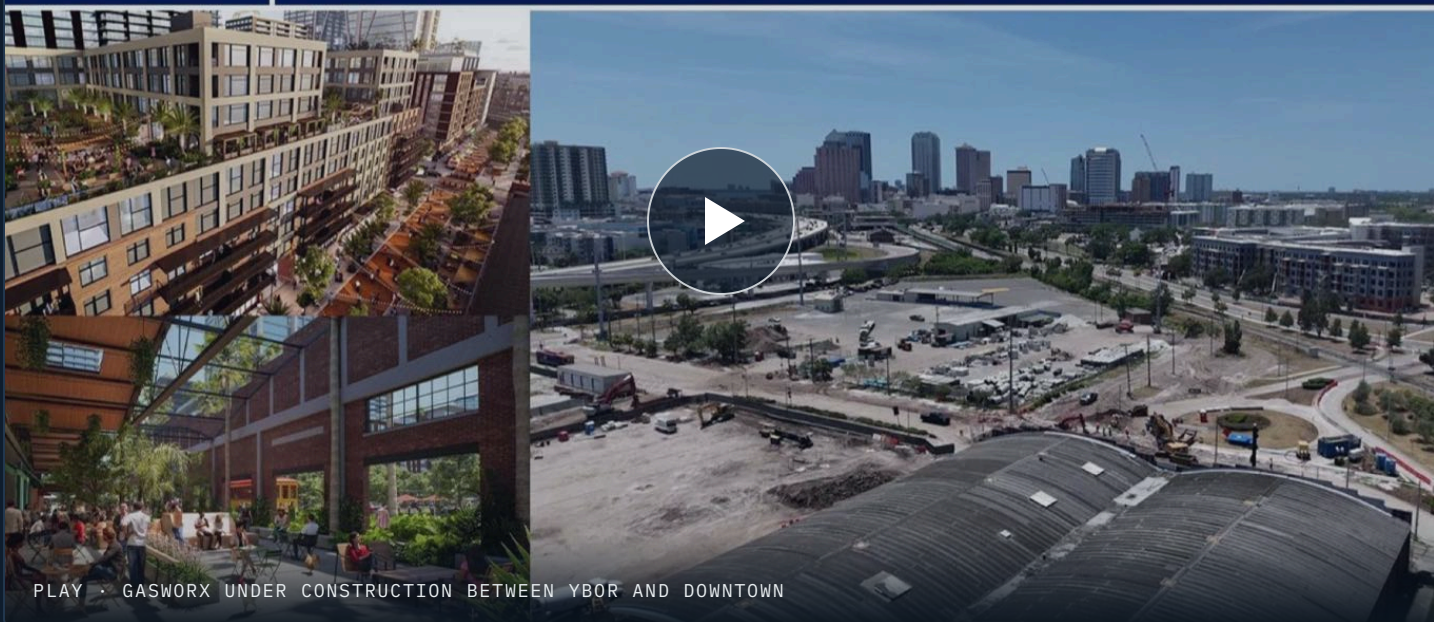

FOR DIEGO

Slide 5 leads with $1.23 billion, Jacksonville’s five-year capital improvement plan. That is a line in a municipal budget. It is not a project, it is a projection, and you have been in this business long enough to know the difference.

Here is what is under construction in Tampa Bay right now, by name.

WATER STREET TAMPA Phase Two · under way Roughly a $3 billion district. Phase Two extends it across six new blocks, with an entertainment district and a 3,500-seat music venue unveiled in May 2026.	GASWORX 15 blocks · delivering 2026-27 Stitches Ybor City to downtown and Channelside. The Stevedore opens this year, the signature office tower completes later in 2026, a 28,000 sf marketplace lands in early 2027.
TAMPA GENERAL HOSPITAL Expansion · active Major healthcare work on a constrained island site. The kind of program that keeps a firm fed for years.	MIDTOWN TAMPA Phase Two Second phase of the mixed-use district between downtown and Westshore.
WESTSHORE MARINA DISTRICT Build-out Waterfront residential and mixed-use, still filling in.	BRANDON & WESLEY CHAPEL Suburban corridors Heavy multifamily and mixed-use volume. Unglamorous, continuous, and it pays.

All of it verifiable, all of it named, all of it hiring. ^[10]

Three careers restarting at once is a lot to ask of a city. Ask it of the bigger one.

SIX ANSWERS, AND NONE OF THEM ARE A CONDO.

Slide 6 gives you four flavors of Jacksonville, and it is a good slide.

Here are ours, weighted the way you would actually weight them: a yard, a decent school, and a drive that does not ruin the day.

PLANT CITY

≈ $343,765

Where we are. Actual downtown, brick streets, strawberry fields, and the closest thing to Jacksonville's price with none of Jacksonville's distance. Twenty minutes from Brandon, forty from downtown Tampa.

BRANDON

≈ $356,875

The practical middle. Everything is fifteen minutes away, including most of the Colombian food on sheet A-07.

RIVERVIEW / FISHHAWK

Newer builds

Master-planned, family-heavy, the kind of place where a five-year-old ends up with eleven friends on the same street.

LUTZ

≈ $491,899

The premium suburb. Bigger lots, older oaks, strong schools, and a straight shot down the Veterans to the airport.

SEMINOLE HEIGHTS

If you want fabric

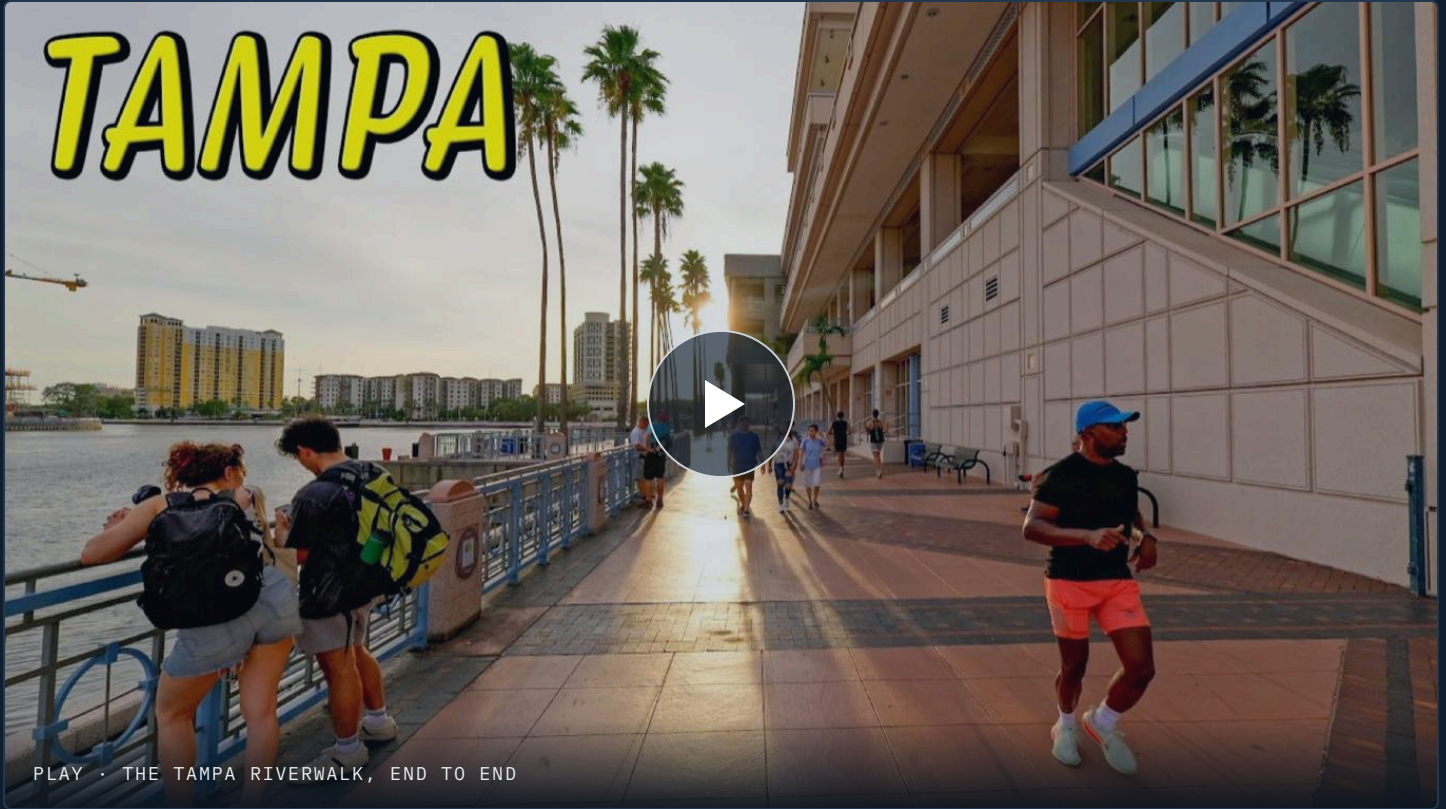

Bungalows, front porches, walkable blocks, an actual restaurant scene. Riverside and Avondale have nothing on it, and it is fifteen minutes from downtown.

YBOR CITY

For the nerd in you

A national historic landmark district built by Cuban and Spanish and Italian cigar workers, now being sewn back into downtown by Gasworx. Bring a camera.

TAMPA

And St. Petersburg exists and is lovely and I am deliberately not pitching it, because you two want a yard and a garage, not a walk-up near a pier.

BOTH CITIES ARE GETTING SAFER. ONE IS STARTING FURTHER BACK.

I want to be careful here, because this is the argument people overplay, and Jacksonville’s trend is genuinely good news.

74	17	-31%
MURDERS IN JACKSONVILLE, 2025	HOMICIDES IN TAMPA, 2025	TAMPA CRIME RATE, 2025 VS 2024

Jacksonville’s murder count fell below one hundred in 2024 for the first time since 2011, and it fell again in 2025. That is real progress by people working hard at it, and it deserves to be said out loud. ^[11]

It is also a count that started above one hundred for thirteen consecutive years. Tampa is a smaller city, so compare rates rather than counts if you want to be rigorous; Tampa’s violent crime rate sits marginally below the national average. Jacksonville’s sits well above it.

Neither city is a war zone and nobody should pretend otherwise. But this sheet was not in the deck, and it belongs in the decision.

ACT FOUR

THE VERDICT

Five things Jacksonville does better, the storm question answered straight, and the scorecard.

TAMPA THEATRE · MATTHEWHOOBIN · CC BY-SA 4.0

WHERE JACKSONVILLE ACTUALLY BEATS US.

Slide 11 conceded Miami's wins, and that concession is exactly why the rest of that deck reads as honest. Same rules here. These are real and I am not going to soften them.

IT IS CHEAPER. FULL STOP.

About $48,000 less on a typical house and $653 less a month to run a family. That is a vacation and a car payment every year. If your budget is the binding constraint, Jacksonville wins and you should go.

LESS TRAFFIC, MORE ROOM.

Jacksonville is the largest city by land area in the contiguous United States, and all that space buys lighter roads. Tampa Bay's commutes are genuinely worse and this one is not close.

THE ATLANTIC HAS WAVES.

If Diego ever wants to surf, or the kid does at fourteen, the Gulf will disappoint you roughly three hundred days a year.

ST. AUGUSTINE IS FORTY-FIVE MINUTES AWAY.

The oldest continuously occupied European settlement in the country, on a Saturday, for an architect. That is a genuinely great thing and we do not have an equivalent.

SOMEONE WHO LOVES YOU IS ALREADY THERE.

That is the last line of slide 12 and it is the best line in the deck. It counts. It counted for us too, once, and it is the only item on this list I cannot answer with a number.

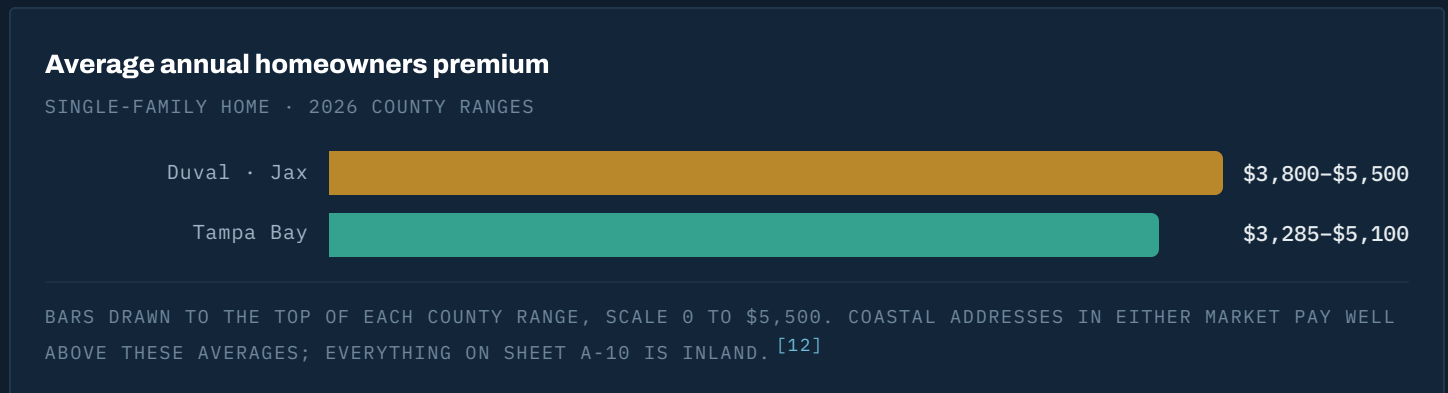

THE STORM QUESTION, HONESTLY

You are going to raise 2024, and you should. Helene drove record surge into Tampa Bay that September, and Milton came ashore weeks later with a one-in-a-thousand-year rainfall over parts of the bay. That was real, it was frightening, and I am not going to wave it off.

Here is the context the coverage left out. Milton made landfall at Siesta Key, south of the bay, and it was the first hurricane to strike the Tampa Bay region in more than a century. The last direct hit on Tampa Bay by a major hurricane was 1921, near Tarpon Springs. One hundred and three years between them. ^[12]

And the people who price this risk for a living have already run the comparison you are about to run.

Jacksonville is not the cheaper insurance market. It is the more expensive one. Plant City sits thirty miles from open water and the premiums reflect it.

THE SCORECARD

“And your friend is already here.”

WE LIVED IN JACKSONVILLE. THEN WE MOVED HERE.

That is the whole close and I am not going to dress it up.

That deck argues from a brochure, and it argues well. We are arguing from a lease, a mortgage, a moving truck and a decision we made with our own money about where to raise our own kid. We ran the experiment. We had the house, and the beach forty minutes away, and every reason to believe it would be great.

You are about to restart two careers and a business in the same month. That is a hard year no matter where the truck stops. Do it once, and do it in the city that gives you the most to restart into, ninety minutes closer to every person you are related to.

Then we packed it up and drove two hundred miles southwest, and we have not spent one evening since wondering whether we got that wrong.

Everything on these fifteen sheets is a number you can check. This last part is the only thing I am asking you to take on faith, and it is the part I am most sure about.

THE ACTUAL OFFER

Come for a weekend. Not a tour, a weekend. Fly into Tampa, four hours from Bogotá whenever family comes, and stay with us in Plant City.

Saturday we do Ybor and downtown, and Diego can decide for himself whether there is work here. Sunday morning we take the kids to the Gulf, where the water is flat and warm and comes up to their chests a hundred feet out. Sunday lunch is at Los 3 Parces in Brandon, and I am going to let the name of that restaurant do the closing argument for me.

And if you come in early March, come during the Strawberry Festival, walk the grounds, and count the booths selling shirts. Then tell me there is nothing here for the two of you.

Then drive down to Miami on Sunday evening. It is four hours. You will be home for dinner, which is the entire point.

And if we are wrong, you will have had a free weekend at the beach and the pleasure of telling us so. Worst case, parce, is not that bad.

EVERY NUMBER, CHECKED 5 SEPTEMBER 2026.

Slide 13 was called “the receipts” and it was a good slide. Here are ours. Where I use the Jacksonville deck’s figures I have kept its sources, so you can hold both documents open at once.

- 01 Redfin, Jacksonville housing market, three months ending July 2026: median sale price $309,845. The deck’s source, the deck’s figure, accepted.
- 02 Redfin, Miami housing market, three months ending July 2026: median sale price $649,675. The deck’s source, the deck’s figure, accepted.
- 03 Livingcost.org, Jacksonville versus Tampa, updated 21 June 2026: family of four $5,144 versus $5,797 per month; median after-tax salary $3,945 versus $4,463. The Miami family figure of $7,364 is the deck’s own, from the same tool.
livingcost.org/cost/jacksonville/tampa
- 04 Zillow Home Value Index, 2026: Miami $581,864; Lutz $491,899; Brandon $356,875; Plant City $343,765; Jacksonville $295,910. zillow.com/home-values
- 05 Tampa International Airport and Avianca: nonstop TPA–BOG launched 30 March 2025 on the A320neo, roughly four hours, daily from October 2025, about twenty weekly flights as of September 2026. news.tampaairport.com
- 06 Jacksonville International Airport international service and route targets, Jacksonville Today, 3 April 2026; Jacksonville Aviation Authority via the Campbell-Hill route study: Dublin, Frankfurt, London, Paris, Reykjavík. jaxtoday.org
- 07 Driving distances and times: Jacksonville–Miami 345 mi, roughly 5 to 6 hours on I-95 depending on traffic; Jacksonville–Atlanta 346 mi; Tampa–Miami 280 mi, about 3h55m; Tampa–Orlando about 1h30; Tampa–Sarasota under an hour. Travelmath, Trippy and Lazytrips road-distance calculators.
- 08 Colombian population: roughly 85,000 across the Tampa Bay and greater Orlando metros, second-largest US concentration after Miami; Florida holds about 30% of the US Colombian diaspora. Migration Policy Institute and Latina Republic.
migrationpolicy.org
- 09 February water temperature: Clearwater Beach about 63°F; Jacksonville Beach about 58.8°F. NOAA-derived buoy and satellite averages via seatemperature.info and surf-forecast.com.
- 10 Tampa Bay project pipeline 2026: Water Street Phase Two, Gasworx, Midtown Phase Two, Tampa General expansion, Westshore Marina District. Tampa Bay Business & Wealth, December 2025; Water Street Tampa project progress; Davron 2026 pipeline report.
- 11 Homicides: Jacksonville 74 in 2025, below 100 in 2024 for the first time since 2011; Tampa 17 in 2025 with the overall crime rate down 31% year over year. City reporting compiled via jaxcrimdefense.com and city-data.com.

- 12 Insurance and storms: Hillsborough/Pinellas/Pasco homeowners premiums roughly $3,285–$5,100 a year against Duval County’s $3,800–$5,500. Hurricane Helene, September 2024, $13.9B in damage and record Tampa Bay surge. Hurricane Milton, October 2024, made landfall near Siesta Key, south of Tampa Bay, with one-in-a-thousand-year rainfall over parts of the bay. The last direct hit on Tampa Bay by a major hurricane was the Tarpon Springs storm of 25 October 1921, 103 years earlier. GreatFlorida county rate tables; NOAA National Weather Service Tampa Bay; NOAA National Hurricane Center tropical cyclone reports. weather.gov/tbw/hurricane1921
- 13 Metro population, 2025: Tampa–St. Petersburg–Clearwater 3,040,000; Jacksonville 1,360,000. Macrotrends metro series from United Nations World Urbanization Prospects and US Census data.
- 14 Event attendance: Florida Strawberry Festival, Plant City, 573,299 guests over the 2026 event, reported by the festival as a record and the best-attended festival in Florida; Gasparilla Pirate Festival, Tampa, attendance around 300,000. flstrawberryfestival.com

Where the two documents disagree on a number, distrust mine first, because I am the one with something to gain. Every figure above is linked or nameable so you can check me. Please check me.

Drawing set issued 5 September 2026 in response to “Miami → Jacksonville, Parce” (13 sheets, 4 September 2026). Prepared without the knowledge or consent of its author, who is a good friend, built a genuinely good case, and is wrong about exactly one thing.